LVFO – November 2001

FOREWORD

The Convention for the establishment of the Lake Victoria Fisheries Organization (LVFO) was signed on 30 June 1994, in Kisumu, Kenya by the “Contracting Parties” who consists the three Partner States of the East African Community (EAC) namely Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania. Upon entering into force of the Treaty establishing the EAC on 30th November 1999, the LVFO became a specialized institution of the Community.

The Convention is a product of a concerted effort by the Partner States under the coordination of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO). The role FAO played was vital, at the time, since the hitherto coordinating mechanism under the old EAC had collapsed. Moreover it came at a time when FAO was assisting in the management of the shared fisheries resources of Lake Victoria through the Sub-committee of CIFA (Committee for Inland Fisheries of Africa). Upon signing of this Convention the FAO Sub-committee of CIFA ceased.

The Convention provides, among others: the objectives, functions and responsibilities, the organs, scope, and the legal status of the Organization.

The Organs that are embodied in the Convention to ensure its implementation are: the Council of Ministers, the supreme organ of the LVFO consisting of Ministers responsible for fisheries in the EAC Partner States; the Policy Steering Committee comprising the Permanent Secretaries responsible for fisheries; and the Executive Committee composed of the Directors of the Fisheries Departments and Fisheries Research Institutes of the Partner States. All heads of key regional programmes/projects on the lake attend the LVFO Sessions as observers. The Permanent Secretary responsible for fisheries in each Partner State coordinates the activities of the National Committees for Lake Victoria. The members of the National Committees are drawn from various Government Ministries and agencies, and other institutions that have a stake in Lake Victoria. Several Technical Committees, including a Fisheries Management and a Scientific committee, and the Permanent Secretariat are the other organs of the Organization.

This document, which contains the latest version of the Convention, has been printed for the purpose of disseminating information to the stakeholders at a time when the Lake fishery is facing a lot of pressure as reflected both in the state of the fisheries resource and conditions of the environment and various habitats. Since the commencement of its operations in 1997, the LVFO achieved a lot, notably the efforts to have the EU fish ban of 1999 lifted and the development of the Strategic Vision for Lake Victoria Fisheries (1999 - 2015). However, many more challenges lay ahead to fulfil the objectives and tenets of this Convention. It is only through dedication by the EAC Partner States and several other stakeholders, including fishermen, that we can save the lake and its important fisheries.

Executive Secretary, LVFO

PREFACE

Fisheries collaboration in East Africa, particularly between Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania, is perhaps one of the oldest in Africa. As early as 1928, it was recommended that a collaborative lake-wide authority for regulation and collection of fisheries statistics be established. The East African Freshwater Fisheries Research Organization (EAFFRO) was established in 1947. A consolidated collaboration was established and further intensified with the formation of the East African Community in 1967.

When the East African Community collapsed in 1977, this important regional co-ordinating mechanism crumbled. However, since the riparian countries felt the need to continue collaborating in the development and management of fisheries of Lake Victoria, a sub-Committee of FAO - Committee for Inland Fisheries of Africa (CIFA), for Lake Victoria was established in December 1980 at the 4th session of the Committee held in Blantyre, Malawi. This provided a unique forum for regional collaboration in the development and management of the fisheries of Lake Victoria.

Between 1991 and 1995 three seminars were held in the region, under the auspices of the FAO-CIFA Sub-Committee on Lake Victoria to discuss management issues, options and strategies for each of the riparian states. These seminars led to a regional meeting for the management of Lake Victoria and the creation of Lake Victoria Fisheries Commission. Further consultation between the riparian authorities with an FAO Mission led to the drafting of the Convention establishing Lake Victoria Fisheries Commission. This draft was later approved by a Legal and Technical Consultation Meeting for the Establishment of Lake Victoria Fisheries Organization (LVFO), in Dar-es-Salaam, Tanzania, 12th – 25th March, 1994. This was followed by signing and adoption of the Convention at a Conference of Plenipotentiaries on 30th June, 1994 in Kisumu, Kenya. The United Republic of Tanzania deposited an instrument of accession on 23rd May 1995 and subsequently signed the Convention on 19th June 1995. The Republics of Uganda and Kenya ratifications of the Convention were deposited on 5th January 1996 and 24th May 1996 respectively. The Convention entered into force on 24th May 1996 and the Organization was launched on 19th December 1996 in Kampala, Uganda during the First Session of the Council of Ministers. Operations of the LVFO Secretariat in Jinja commenced on 1st July, 1997.

The Convention has undergone only one series of amendments. The amendments, mainly to provide for the Policy Steering Committee as an organ of the LVFO, were adopted during the Second Session of the Council of Ministers of the LVFO held in Nairobi, Kenya on 12th November 1998. The Organization has formulated a strategy, “Strategic Vision for Lake Victoria (1999 – 2015)”, as one of the guiding blueprint for the implementation of the Convention.

PREAMBLE

The Governments of the Republic of Kenya, the Republic of Uganda and the United Republic of Tanzania, hereinafter referred to as the "Contracting Parties"

Recognizing and acknowledging the efforts already made by the three riparian States of Lake Victoria to strengthen regional cooperation in the spirit of the Agreement for the Establishment of a Permanent Tripartite Commission for cooperation among them signed in Arusha on 30 November 1993;

Recognizing that, as the riparian States of Lake Victoria, they share an interest in the well-being of the Lake and its living resources, and in the rational management and sustainability of those living resources for the benefit of present and future generations;

Recognizing that the quantity and value of landings from Lake Victoria fisheries have increased substantially during the past decade, and that there is a need to ensure the sustainability of yields;

Recognizing that introduced fish species, for example the Nile Tilapia and the Nile Perch, now dominate commercial catches and that some indigenous fish species have substantially declined, affecting the biodiversity of the Lake;

Recognizing the likelihood that management decisions relating to any portion of Lake Victoria within the territorial limits of any one of the Contracting Parties will affect those portions of Lake Victoria lying within the territorial limits of the other Contracting Parties, and the concomitant necessity that management decisions be made taking such effects into account;

Recognizing the continuing need to increase scientific understanding of Lake Victoria, its living resources, its ecosystem, and the impact on those resources of climate, human populations and settlement, non-indigenous wildlife and industrialization;

Being aware of the dangers of over-fishing and of other threats such as water hyacinth, pollution, eutrophication and climatic changes to the sustainability of yields;

Appreciating past efforts of nationals and institutions of each of the three Contracting Parties in partnership with international organizations and foreign governments in fostering a better understanding of Lake Victoria and its living resources and in clarifying the choices that need to be made respecting the Lake and its living resources in the future;

Being convinced that joint action by the Contracting Parties is essential, in order to develop uniform management measures to the extent appropriate, to be implemented by national laws and regulations, as well as to develop adequate scientific bases for such measures;

Being committed to continued cooperation with respect to the sustainable utilization of Lake Victoria, its resources generally, and its living resources in particular;
